One of the best shows yet have been able to secure in a season will be put on this (Thursday) evening. The reels picture comedy, drama and scenes from the strenuous life of the west that are as amusing, interesting and true to life as pictures can be made to be. The Modern Messenger Boy is a full reel of comedy of the clean kind and lasso adventures are the limit of fun. The picture entitled Motherless is by F. A. and is based on the story of a motherless child, which is popular wherever shown. The Bucking Broncho picture supplies a reproduction of scenes from the life of western life, showing the work of breaking a bucking broncho, lasso throwing and the antics of a picture picture cowboy. Other good pictures.

"WITH PEARY IN THE ARCTIC."
The Dash to the Pole was not a one-man affair but a campaign which had taken months of planning and the cooperation of many able men. When Peary at last started, everything had been as carefully prepared as is done for the launching of an ocean vessel. Prof. MacMillan is one of the trained experts who made Peary's success possible. Accompanying him far on his way he gave his leader the final word and then labored unrelentingly during his long absence to make the return safe, no matter on what shore Peary might land.

Trained in science, skilled in navigation, keen and alert to observe, with a personality which charms from first to last, he is who tells the story of the Dash to the Pole even better than Peary himself.

The stereoscopic views of Esquimaux, dogs, musk-ox and walrus, and the wonderful weird scenery of the Arctic regions make the movie the more enjoyable and the more to be remembered. Tonight at 8.15 at the Broadway Theatre.

BREED THEATRE.
"The Ranch Girl's Legacy," Thrilling Western Feature.

In the amazingly funny picture-story of the Ranch Girl's Legacy, the Breed has secured the funniest and yet the most exciting western picture story. The Best Man Wins, and the patrons may be assured of one of the best bills of the season.

In this bright western story, a Boston youth receives notification that he is one of the lucky heirs to a million dollars and a big ranch in the west, providing that he marry a young girl, the daughter of the deceased uncle, also an heir to this estate.

Both young parties feel that the selection of a partner should be left to themselves, as neither have been each other.

The young man takes a trip west to see the young lady, and both are of one mind, and decide that each will be as ridiculous as possible before the other, and as a result, each will be disgusted and refuse to marry. The amusing situations that follow are too ridiculous to mention, and the whole picture ends happily, after conquering the spectators.

Another big feature picture is the great story of the Spanish Dominion entitled In Old California, and the fact that it is a Biograph output, settles the fact of its excellence.

Another big feature picture containing 1,000 feet of motion picture perfection, is entitled Told in the Golden West, and is as thrilling as could be desired.

CAME FROM FRANCE.

Death of Sister Celestine de Jesus at Bridgeport.

Sister Celestine de Jesus, one of the sisters of the Order of the Holy Ghost, banished from France a few years ago on account of religious differences with the government, died at St. Michael's convent, Bridgeport, late Friday night after a lingering illness. The deceased, known to the world as Marie Celestine La Bru, had been a most successful teacher of fine embroidery and needlework since her residence in Bridgeport and had many pupils, who had become proficient in their work under her instruction, since she was an expert. She was only a young woman at the time of her death. Her funeral was held Monday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem at 9 o'clock, at St. Augustine's church. Burial was in the Sisters' plot in St. Michael's cemetery—Bridgeport Telegram.

Stepped on a Match.
